The Anxiety and Related Disorders Interview Schedule for DSM-5RG (ADIS-5) Clinician Manual accompanies both the Adult and Lifetime versions of the ADIS-5 Client Interview Schedules. The interview schedules are designed to diagnose anxiety, mood, obsessive-compulsive, trauma, and related disorders (e.g., somatic symptom, substance use) and to permit differential diagnosis among these disorders according to DSM-5RG criteria (American Psychiatric Association, 2013). The Clinician Manual provides information for the clinician about uses of the ADIS-5, changes introduced in the ADIS-5, coverage of the ADIS-5, organization of diagnostic sections, how to administer the ADIS-5, and more.

The Anxiety and Related Disorders Interview Schedule for DSM-5(r): Adult Version (ADIS-5) is a structured interview designed to diagnose current anxiety, mood, obsessive-compulsive, trauma, and related disorders (e.g., somatic symptom, substance use) and to permit differential diagnosis among these disorders according to DSM-5(r) criteria (American Psychiatric Association, 2013). In most diagnostic sections, the ADIS-5 also provides: (a) dimensional assessment of the key and associated features of disorders; and (b) inquiry to foster the functional analysis of the various disorders (e.g., nature of situations avoided, content of fear cognitions). The ADIS-5 contains screening questions for a variety of other conditions including hoarding disorder, impulse control disorders, eating disorders, attention deficit disorder, dissociative disorders, and psychotic disorders. Other sections of the ADIS-5 include the assessment of episodic and ongoing life stress, medical and psychiatric treatment history, and familial psychiatric history

"The interviewer should begin with a brief introduction and explanation of what symptoms of anxiety disorder can look like and how these symptoms can be difficult to distinguish from symptoms of autism spectrum disorder or other common difficulties that co-occur with ASD, such as ADHD. With this in mind, share the purpose of the interview, obtain a brief description of the difficulties the parent believes may be due to anxiety, and ascertain the reasons for seeking professional help at this time. All text in bold can be used as a guiding script for communication with the parent or guardian"--

This volume represents a clear, jargon-free overview of diagnostic categories with helpful hints regarding a psychiatric interview. Completely revised and updated, detailing current innovations in theory and practice, including recent changes in the DSM-IV.
