User interfaces and supporting documentation are both supposed to help people when using a complex device. But often, these forms of support seem to come from different worlds. User interface designers, document designers, and researchers in both interface and document design share many goals, but are also separated by many barriers. In this book, user interface designers and document designers from Microsoft Corporation and from Apple Computer, plus researchers from several universities try to bridge the gap between interface design and document design. They discuss opportunities for closer cooperation, and for more integrated and effective help for users of modern technology. public in February 2014 in the form of the Alpha A6000. The A6000 camera is a compact digital device that is mirrorless in nature and lightweight; facilitating comfort for users. Also dubbed the ILE6000 camera, the camera has been lauded for meeting photographic needs left unsatisfied by its predecessors the NEX-6 and Nex-7. Improved features include an advanced Hybrid Auto focus system and a phase detection point of approximately one hundred and seventy nine with up to ninety percentage coverage and the ability to auto focus at a speed of 0.06 seconds. It also includes object tracking and continuous shooting mode of up to eleven frames per second. Sony also brought enhancements by introducing the BIONZ X processor. This new engine is designed to produce professional quality images and ISO sensitivity in low-light of up to 25600.
